CVE Leadership Meeting during VulnCon

- Working to reserve space for Thursday and Friday (March 28 and 29), following the Spring 2024 VulnCon, for an in-person CVE leadership meeting.
- A room that can accommodate about 25 people is needed. This will allow room for Board members and others from program leadership.
- Agenda topics for the meeting are TBD, but may include, e.g., questions/concerns/ideas from VulnCon, next big steps for the program, etc.

Review of Comments for CVE Glossary Update

- As part of the Rules revision, the program Glossary also needed an update. The SPWG produced a draft for Board review with terms and definitions consolidated from different CVE documents. If approved, the Glossary will be posted to the cve.org website. The Rules Glossary will be consistent with that primary source.
- Many definitions have been modified, and new terms and definitions have been added.
- The goal here is to bring this up for a vote, once the open comments are handled.
- The current draft of the Glossary was shared. The Board participated in a review and finalized some terms.
- The finalized Glossary will be submitted for a vote by the Board via the Board list.

Status of Nominations for CNA Liaison

- Not covered, moved to next meeting.

Board Discussions and Voting Process

- Not covered, moved to next meeting.

Open Discussion

- Spring 2024 VulnCon Status
The Vulnerability Conference and Events Working Group (VCEWG) is tracking agenda topics and the call for papers. There are currently 54 submissions for the call for papers, and the review process begins next week.

A panel discussion about vulnerability root cause mapping will be included on the agenda.

About 75 registered attendees so far. We are planning for a maximum of about 400 attendees, but can go up to 570 if needed with an extra room.

On the last day, there will be a wrap up and lessons learned session, like a lightning round.

A couple sessions planned intended to drive the conversation about problems you need solved by the rest of the community.

Logistics planning is underway, e.g., rooms, meals, beverages, evening events, recording capability.

Planning to finalize the agenda in mid-February.

- The EU cybersecurity agency, ENISA, is now a CNA. As a CVE Partner, ENISA is integrating with CVE Program efforts around vulnerabilities.

- Board Notification of New CNAs Coming Onboard

  - Is there a way for the Board to know what new CNAs are in the pipeline and close to onboarding, other than attending the Council of Roots meetings? It would be nice to have a chance to review the CNA prospect from the perspective of the type of organization, their business model, or any concerns the program may have about their participation.

  - Comments:
    - Agree that we should have some access to the pipeline snapshot at a Board call or via an email that goes to the Board list.
    - The Secretariat can provide access to Board members so they can view the onboarding pipeline, or can prepare a report extract of pipeline status and share that on a recurring basis.
    - Also consider documented guardrails and standards the Board expects Roots to abide by, to minimize instances where a CNA prospect is not appropriate for the program.
    - Make the notifications more event driven, based on defined gates or milestones in the recruiting process. One challenge is that Roots may have their own internal processes for on boarding new CNAs, which could trigger a lot of events.
    - Another idea is to periodically share at a Board meeting the queue of CNA prospects that are close to completion of onboarding.
    - Whatever approach is taken, the Board needs to know well in advance of a formal and final onboarding date. We don’t want to reject someone late in the process.
    - Understanding who’s in the pipeline can also help the program target recruitment in industries, or for organization types, that are not well represented on the program.

  - Next steps: The Secretariat will share the pipeline at the next Board meeting. This will show the status of all of those onboarding. First agenda item at next meeting.

- Annual Report and 4th Quarter Report

  - The Annual Report is being written now, and hopefully done in the next couple weeks for Board review.
• The 4th Quarter Report is going through review now and should be out in the next couple weeks.

- Rules Update Review Schedule
  • The proposed schedule was presented for Board review and discussion. The SPWG will do one more review. When that is done, the review process will start.
  • The review process schedule was revised to add a two-week public review period.
  • All comments will be read, but the program will not necessarily respond to, or adjudicate, each one. Prioritization of comments will depend on impact and importance.
  • The Board agreed to the following schedule:
    ▪ Four-week review period by the program, particularly CNAs. Board members are encouraged to take advantage of this first review period and not wait until the end of the process.
    ▪ Two-week SPWG comment adjudication period, updated version released.
    ▪ Two-week review period by the general public. The method for commenting and receiving public input is TBD, but could include using GitHu, Google Docs, or Word or PDF.
    ▪ One week SPWG comment adjudication period, updated version released.
    ▪ Two-week review period and approval by the Board.
  • This schedule wraps up in late April, which is too late for the Spring VulnCon. Highlights and key changes in the Rules may still be presented at VulnCon.

- NIST and Industry Collaboration on NVD
  • It was reported that NIST is standing up a consortium for collaborating with industry relating to the NVD and has offered to talk to the CVE Board.
  • The Secretariat will coordinate the meeting (action item). All Board members will be invited.

Review of Action Items

• Out of time.
