Working Group Updates

- AWG
  - Started group discussions on schema migration strategy, e.g., JSON 5.0 to 5.1. Working with TWG.
- CNACWG
  - The mentoring initiative continues with a couple new sign ups. There are a couple of mentorships missing a mentor.
  - Question: Has anyone heard feedback about the virtual workshop held earlier this month? Answer: That will be a topic at the CNACWG meeting later today, and meaningful results will be shared.
- OCWG
  - The Roots podcast production will be rescheduled due to conflicts.
  - The group is considering a blog about disputed/rejected CVE Records from the perspective of the consumer, not the CNA. There is currently not a lot of content for consumers and researchers.
  - Recently, the group discussed doing a blog on picking the right CWE for a CVE.
  - Published a blog yesterday, on the website and social media, about the Q3 CVE Program report. The report will be shared with the board and CNAs later today.
  - OpenSSF.org published a guide to becoming a CNA as an open source project. The blog will be promoted on CVE social media beginning today.
- QWG
Sent a message to TWG in groups.io about QWG’s position to move forward with the current schema release candidate. The email provided a rough plan for how that might proceed.

Need to get the schema candidate into a test environment. Testing is needed to finalize the schema migration strategy. The AWG has the action to start discussing an overall schema migration strategy.

- SPWG
  - The CNA Rules update is getting close to being released from the SPWG for broader review. Proposing a two-phase review, one for CNAs and the other for working groups. The Board will then have a couple weeks for review; Board vote is targeted for March.

- TWG
  - Working with QWG and AWG on a schema migration strategy.
  - A survey about the November 15 virtual workshop will be sent out by the Secretariat.

Organizational Motivation/Intent – Does it matter when considering a CNA prospect

- To become a CNA, some conditions must be met, e.g., agree to follow program rules, demonstrate competency in vulnerability determination, have a scope and stay in scope, disclose all vulnerabilities found in your scope. Currently, a prospective CNA is not required to explain their motivation to become a CNA.
- Board members discussed whether the program reconsider CNA requirements to get a better understanding of a prospect’s motivation or intent.
- Next steps: Further discussion will be held off-line with interested Board members. The Secretariat will conduct a poll to identify interested parties and a meeting time (action item).

Disputed/Rejected Records: Root/CNA Perspective

- In a recent case, after a record had been published, both the product vendor and the original requestor of the CVE ID agreed that it was not a vulnerability, and they wanted the record rejected. Because both agreed, the program rejected the record.
- The MITRE CNA of Last Resort’s process is, generally, to not reject a record. Instead, the record is tagged as disputed and the reasoning for that decision is added. Downstream consumers can then decide for themselves whether they think it is a vulnerability.

Open Discussion

Out of time.

Review of Action Items
